SHREWD BARNEY BIGLIN.

It Was Politics For Him Not to Know Ex-Judge Dittenhofer.

Most of the stories worth printing about the famous Chicago convention of 1880 have been published, but here is one that seems to be new: Ex-Judge Dittenhofer was in Chicago working against Grant and a third term. Bernard Biglin was there in the interest of Grant. Both were old personal friends. The night before the balloting began Biglin and two others were appointed a committee to look after several southern delegations, among them being the Kentucky delegation.

When Biglin and his associates arrived at the Kentucky headquarters, they found that Dittenhofer had got ahead of them. He had the floor and was delivering a strong speech against Grant, saying, among other things, that Grant could not carry New York. Biglin saw that Dittenhofer's remarks were having great weight, and he realized that he was no match for him as a talker. What to do to break the force of Dittenhofer's speech was the problem that confronted Biglin. This was the method he selected. In the midst of Dittenhofer's peroration Biglin called out in loud voice, "Who is that man?"

"Why, he is ex-Judge Dittenhofer of New York," said a member of the Kentucky delegation.

"Oh, no; that's not Judge Dittenhofer," said Biglin. "I know Judge Dittenhofer well. This man may pretend to be Dittenhofer to strangers, but he knows better than to try to work any such racket with New Yorkers. I tell you he's a fraud."

Biglin's remarks made a sensation. Suspicious glances were cast at Dittenhofer by members of the Kentucky delegation. The former got red in the face and walked up to Biglin. "Barney," he said, holding out his hand, "that's a pretty good joke of yours, not to know me."

"Joke," shouted Biglin in contempt. "It's no joke, I can tell you. I will just bet you $20 that you are not Judge Dittenhofer of New York." Biglin flourished a $20 bill in Dittenhofer's face. Of course he had to accept the challenge. The money was put up in the hands of a member of the delegation. Dittenhofer hurried away to get some one to identify him. When he returned, Biglin had disappeared, likewise the stakeholder. After the convention Dittenhofer met Biglin in the hotel corridor. "What did you mean," he said, "by saying you did not know me that night at the Kentucky headquarters?"

"What did you mean," said Biglin, "by saying that Grant could not carry New York?"

"That was politics," answered Dittenhofer.

"Well," said Biglin, "it was politics my not knowing you."

Dittenhofer and Biglin are still friends.—New York Press.

What He Helped At.

The congressman was telling stories. "It was on me once," he said. "I had a friend who was dry as a humorist, but not always dry as a drinker, and when he was full he did foolish things. One of these was to buy a jackass for $500, and when he sobered up and knew what he had done he sold him back to the original owner for $400. Naturally the loss of $100 made him sore, and he did not like to be twitted about it. One day I saw him on a mule waiting in front of a store, and I spoke to him. He was just full enough to be serious.

"Hello," I said, and he responded with a nod.

"You are a judge of that sort of animal you are riding, aren't you?"

"I don't know that I am particularly so," he said earnestly.

"I thought you were in the business."

"No, I ain't."

"Didn't you buy a jack for $500 not long ago?"

"The crowd that had gathered giggled, and he looked more serious than ever.

"Yes I did," he answered solemnly.

"What did you do with him? I asked, with a wink at the crowd to be ready.

"He looked at me solemnly.

"I helped elect him to congress," he said, without a smile, and the howl that went up made me seek shelter in the nearest place that could be found."—Detroit Free Press.

Human Imitations of Vegetables.

Referring to the fact that the human head is sometimes facetiously and irreverently spoken of as "a cocconut," the Boston Transcript remarks that scientists have recently discovered a remarkable resemblance between the shell of the fruit and the shell of the human brain. Then it quotes a French scientific periodical to prove that there is a wonderful likeness between other human organs and vegetable products. For example, the meat of the English walnut is a close copy of the form and convolutions of the brain; plums and cherries are like the eye; almonds are shaped like the nose; the ear is brought to mind by an opened oyster and shell; in a mammoth squash the entire body may be traced; the open hand is found in growing scrub willow and celery, and the heart is seen in the German turnip and the eggplant.

The Katydid's Song.

Everybody is familiar with the music of the katydid. It is the male that has the voice. At the base of each wing cover is a thin membranous plate. He elevates the wing covers and rubs the two plates together. If you could rub your shoulder blades together, you could imitate the operation very nicely.—Washington Star.

Long Winded.

Overheard at the Salle des Capucines during the delivery of a lecture by the famous X.:

"How full he is of his subject!" said one of the hearers.

"Yes, but how slow he is in emptying himself!" was the reply.—Intransigent.

WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, languor, dull headache, drowsiness, constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

A COMPROMISE MEASURE.

The inability of the goldbugs to maintain a quorum in the Senate to force a vote on the repeal bill has had the effect of restoring their senses. They would not listen to any overtures for a temporary settlement of the question, believing that they could wear out the silver men. They did not realize that the Western and Southern men were as sound and as reliable as the metal whose rights they contended for, and that the brightest, brainiest and most energetic men in Congress are arrayed on the side of free coinage. Now that their hopes of passing the repeal bill unconditionally have been dissipated by night session failure, they propose compromises to settle the silver question temporarily, as they feel satisfied that nothing less than free coinage will settle it effectually. An amendment, which is said to have been drafted by Harris, Gray, Rankin, Gorman, Camden, Cockrell, Bismarck and others, is proposed, the provisions of which are as follows:

First—The coinage of all silver bullion in the treasury representing the government seigniorage into full legal tender dollars, at the rate of $3,000,000 per month.

Second—When the seigniorage is coined the Secretary of the Treasury shall purchase each month bullion sufficient to coin blank dollars (the amount to be determined by Congress) and coin said bullion into legal tender dollars.

Third—All paper notes or certificates of less than $10 shall be redeemed and reissued, and national bank notes of less denomination than $10 shall be redeemed and banks be required to substitute notes of that or a higher denomination.

Fourth—Two and a half and five dollar gold pieces to be no longer coined, and when received at the Treasury Department to be received as eagles and double eagles.

Fifth—Holders of standard silver dollars shall be entitled to exchange such dollars on presentation for notes of the same legal tender quality as such dollars, which shall be held for their redemption.

Importance was attached to this proposed amendment, it being assumed that it furnished the first specific compromise proposition growing out of the failure of the repeal men to accomplish their purpose by a continuous session. Harris and Teller are said to have circulated it among the free coinage men as a basis for compromise.

Secretary Carlisle, who was not fully satisfied that the gold men would have to capitulate, was willing to have it introduced in case a compromise or defeat are the only alternatives.

It is now almost certain that the Sherman act cannot be unconditionally repealed at the special session of Congress convened expressly to get it off the statute books. A compromise may be effected which, while not satisfactory to either party, may tide the question over the regular session of Congress. In that event, the silver question will be the paramount issue in the Congressional elections next year, and as the masses of the people, especially in the West and South, are getting to understand its importance, the next Congress is certain to have less goldbugs in it than the present one.

STEWART'S AMENDMENT.

The amendment proposed by Senator Stewart to the bill to repeal the Sherman act is one of the most important offered in regard to silver. It requires the President to invite the Governments of Mexico, Central and South America, Hayti and Santo Domingo, to join the United States in a conference at Washington to adopt a uniform silver dollar which shall not contain less than 359.3 grains nor more than 383.13 grains of pure silver, and which dollar shall be legal tender in all commercial transactions between the citizens of those States. It also provides that the decision of the conference shall be binding upon the several governments represented and that when an agreement is reached the mints of those countries shall be ordered for the free coinage of such dollars for the benefit of depositors.

The States included in this proposed conference contain a population of over one hundred millions. All of them use silver for money and in most if not all of them silver coins are a legal tender for all debts. At present the greater part of their trade goes to Europe. This trade will be diverted to the United States if an international silver dollar should be adopted which would be a legal tender in all commercial transactions between citizens of American States.

A conference of this character gives promise of better results than could be expected from an international monetary conference in which European goldbugs predominated. Its success would certainly tend to divert the trade of Central and South America to the United States, and by using a uniform coin bring them into closer relations with each other. None of them would trade with gold standard countries if the commodities which they required could be had where the international silver dollar was a legal tender, and whatever may be the fate of the Sherman act the proposition to hold an international conference in Washington should receive favorable consideration.

The highest form of sincere flatery at the present time is to ask a man if he can change a ten dollar gold piece.

Proposed Amendments to the Senate Rules.

THE SENATE RULES.

Proposed Amendments Offered by Senators.

WASHINGTON, October 14.—Voorhees says he will not ask the Senate to remain in session to-night.

It is believed that some definite conclusion as to a compromise will be reached by Monday.

Notice was given of proposed amendments to the rules of the Senate as follows:

By Lodge of Massachusetts—It shall not be in order for a Senator to read a speech either written or printed; also when the Senate refuses to excuse a Senator from voting and he still declines to vote, he shall be counted as present for the purpose of making a quorum.

By Stewart of Nevada—That no Senator interested in any National Bank shall vote upon any question affecting the coinage or issue of currency by the Government or through the instrumentality of National Banks.

By Callinger of New Hampshire—When a majority of the Senate submit a request in writing, through the Chair, that debate close on a bill or resolution reported from committee, such papers shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, whose duty it shall be, within five days, to report an order naming a day and hour when a vote shall be had without amendment.

A resolution was offered by Dolph of Oregon, referring to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. The question whether absent Senators may be compelled to attend was taken up and agreed to.

The Senate by a vote of 28 to 37 declined to excuse Dubois of Idaho from voting. His name was thereupon called and he refused to answer and this ended the affair. The repeal bill was taken up, Jones of Nevada speaking in opposition.

AN ARMY OF TRAMPS.

Train Officials Unable to Cope With Them.

TEHAMA, October 14.—There is a jail full of tramps on the way to San Francisco. They promise to give the police of the metropolis a lively time if they reach there.

This morning 117 of the most desperate looking fellows that have been seen in this section of the country passed through here on their way to the city. The train officials said they were powerless to act, and had advised the railroad officials in San Francisco of the facts. The reply came to give the train to the tramps and run it south. It is supposed that they are on their way to San Francisco.

It has been learned that the tramps hail from Oregon, where they have been committing many depredations. At Ashland they forced the citizens to give them food, and looted Chinatown, getting away with $500.

It is thought that before many hours have elapsed they will be captured at some town. The story has reached here that the railroad company is anxious to run them into San Francisco, where the authorities will be asked to prepare for their arrest.

Ripsey Found Guilty.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 14.—Aged Wesley C. Ripsey, the man who shot John W. Mackay last January, has been convicted, but not of assault with intent to kill. The jury was out four hours before they found a verdict.

"We find," said Foreman Ciprico when the usual question was asked, "that the defendant is guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon and we recommend him to the extreme mercy of the Court." Judge Sewall announced that he would pass sentence next Saturday.

Dynamiter Captured.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 14.—John P. Hansen, chief patrolman of the Sailors' Union has been arrested, charged with the attempt made last April to dynamite the tug Ethel and Marion, while she lay at Fishermen's wharf, at the foot of Green street. The evidence is conclusive against him. It is thought that he is one of the men who blew up Curtin's boarding house recently with dynamite, resulting in the death of four men.

Hunters Lost.

BAWLINGS, WY., October 14.—T. H. Merrill has arrived here from Grenswood, Routt county, Colorado. He reports that he was a member of a hunting party of five. The other four left camp one after another and never returned. The place is wild and far removed from civilization. The names of the missing men are Nonither, Reynolds, Mack and Brown.

Young Pair Gets Married.

OAKLAND, October 14.—With a hackman for best man Charles L. Fair and Miss Caroline D. Smith were married yesterday in St. John's Church in this city. The ceremony was attended by but five people, the two principals, the minister and two witnesses.

Fatal Shooting.

KANSAS CITY, October 14.—Anton Schureh was shot and killed this morning by Charles Etna at the Belvedere Hotel, where he found Schureh and Miss Nettie McCall registered as man and wife and occupying the same room. All concerned are printers.

Prohibition in Fresno.

FRESNO, October 14.—The Supervisors of this county have passed a midnight and Sunday saloon ordinance. Considerable commotion has been created among local dealers. The law goes into effect November 6th with a $70 quarterly license.

OAKLAND, October 14.—Thirty-nine Chinese are in the Alameda County Jail awaiting deportation, fourteen having been sent up by Marshal Gard yesterday.

When Does the Year Begin?

The countries and nations of the world, with a few exceptions, begin the year with January 1, but that this system is arbitrary and based upon nothing in particular does not even need to be proven. The ancient Egyptians, Chaldeans, Persians, Syrians, Phenicians and Carthaginians each began their year with the autumnal equinox, or about September 22. Among the Greeks the beginning of the year was at the time of the Winter solstice down to 432 B. C., when the "menton cycle" was introduced, after which the new year began on June 22d. In England, from the time of the fourteenth century until 1752, the legal and ecclesiastical year began on March 25th.

For Bronchitis

"I never realized the good of a medicine so much as I have in the last few months, during which time I have suffered intensely from pneumonia followed by bronchitis. After trying various remedies without benefit, I began the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the effect has been marvelous, a single dose relieving me of choking, and securing a good night's rest."—T. A. Higginbotham, Gen. Store, Long Mountain, Va.

La Grippe

"Last Spring I was taken down with la grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breath seemed as if confined in an iron cage. Lung Trouble

"For more than twenty-five years, I was a sufferer from lung trouble, attended with coughing so severe at times as to cause hemorrhage, the paroxysms frequently lasting three or four hours. The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CHARLEY FAIR

Takes Out a License to Marry Caroline D. Smith.

Charley Lewis Fair has marked another period in his rapid career by marrying, says the San Francisco Report. At any rate he has a license to marry now—good anywhere in Alameda county.

Soon after the County Clerk of Alameda county opened his office Friday morning a well-dressed, not bad-looking, but very dissipated looking, young man walked in.

He wanted a marriage license, he said, and one was made out accordingly granting the requisite permission to marry to Charles Lewis Fair, a native of Nevada, aged 25 years, and Caroline D. Smith, a native of New Jersey, aged 26 years. The residence of both was given as San Francisco.

Charles Lewis Fair is the son of ex-Senator James G. Fair of Nevada, and has proved a scapegrace. The ex-Senator has done everything that is possible for the boy in order to redeem him from his habits, but it has all been useless. Young Fair has been placed in hospitals, in the Home for Inebriates, and has taken the Keeley cure twice—once at Dwight and once at Los Gatos. He simply would not stop drinking, however. Only a few weeks ago his father found it necessary to send him to the "Home" again, but when released the young man started on his career of intoxication again, going about town and spending all the money he could raise on liquor and women. For nearly a week accounts of his escapades each day, that have been sent to newspaper offices, would fill a book. It has been a week of the worst debauchery that he has ever indulged in.

When ex-Senator Fair was informed of the fact that his son had taken out a marriage license he received the information coolly.

"What is the woman's name?" he asked, and when told that it was Caroline D. Smith, he shrugged his shoulders. "I thought it was another woman," he said. "The boy has been running with an old cat up on Stockton street, and I did not know but she had married him—but that isn't her name. What's the name of that Stockton street woman? I can't think of it, but it's the name of that British Admiral." He inquired and found out that the woman to whom he referred was named Maud Nelson—decidedly different from Caroline D. Smith. "You know nothing about Miss Smith, then?" he asked. "Never heard of her. Don't know anything about her," the Senator replied.

"Shall you try to break this marriage?" "No," the ex-Senator said, most emphatically, "I shall not interfere, though I believe it could be broken, as the boy has been crazy drunk for a week and has no notion of what he is doing. No, I shall not interfere. What is the use? I can't be keeping the boy imprisoned in jail or watched all the time. He is old enough to know what he is doing and to be responsible for his own actions. I cannot be responsible for him. He is killing himself, and at the pace he has been going he cannot live more than a year or so longer, anyhow. He will die, anyhow, in a year or so, and I can't prevent it."

"As for this marriage, I suppose he would have got married some time. I shan't interfere."

STATE DEBTS.

A Good Showing for the West.

The New York Bond Buyer publishes a tabulated statement showing the public debt of each State. The total indebtedness of $224,000,000 of which the West owes $14,518,111, divided as follows:

| | |
|--------------|-----------|
| Arizona | 2,071,000 |
| California | 2,642,000 |
| Colorado | 2,148,143 |
| Idaho | 251,000 |
| Kansas | 800,000 |
| Nebraska | 549,267 |
| Nevada | 37,754 |
| New Mexico | 1,454,000 |
| North Dakota | 805,807 |
| South Dakota | 1,020,000 |
| Texas | 1,019,690 |
| Utah | 450,000 |
| Washington | 768,752 |
| Wyoming | 320,000 |

Montana and Oregon have no debt, and Oklahoma makes no report.

A Prize Fight.

About thirty people assembled at the Opera House livery stable last night to witness a glove contest between Sam Barber and Billy Armstrong, both of San Francisco. It was not generally known that there was to be a fight, and therefore the "suckers" were not numerous.

It was 10 o'clock when everything was in readiness for the exhibition, with Dan O'Keefe as referee and J. P. Sweeney and C. Gibson time keepers. The fight lasted four rounds. There was no fighting to speak of until the last round, when Barber began pressing matters, and a lively set-to resulted. He whacked Armstrong on the jaw, and the latter went down, but regained his feet before being counted out. He went down a second time and was counted out, but this writer is unable to say whether or not the last fall was caused by a punch from the pillows tied onto Barber's hands.

At any rate, Barber was given the fight, and the crowd dispersed.

An Old-Timer.

The distinction of being the only man alive who worked upon the first American railway is claimed for Lewis Cheney, of Chelsea, Mass. The railroad was known as the "Granite Railway," and was built in 1826 at Quincy, chiefly to transport stones for building Bunker Hill monument. Mr. Cheney is eighty-five years old.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ONLY TWO ACRES OF NEVADA

But Sam Davis Proposes to Make them the Liveliest in the Fair.

The San Francisco Examiner of Oct. 12th, has the following article:

There is the greatest excitement just at present among the sagebrush delegation that frequents the bar and "cinch" room at the Palace.

They are all worked up over the Mid-winter Fair, and even the silver question has lost interest as a subject of discussion with the Nevada contingent. Sam Davis of the Carson Appeal is in town. When the Horace Greeley of Nevada packs a few paper collars and a file of his daily in a carpetbag and comes down to the city on his annual pass he brings along a few of his Muesberry Sellers ideas with him, and he stirs up the rest of the Nevada crowd that stay around the Palace until they can hardly sleep nights thinking over his schemes.

A few weeks ago the Fair management granted Davis a concession to put up an old-time Western newspaper office in one corner of the Exposition grounds and run a frontier daily, to be called The Sagebrush Scapegrace. This concession has been expanding and bulging out over the sides of Davis' fertile brain until from a tiny newspaper plant it has grown into a Nevada early-day mining camp to cover two acres of ground.

If he doesn't get his ambition under control in a week or two his exhibit will represent the history of the world since the creation and take in the whole Exposition and the rest of the Park, to o.

NO LACK OF FEATURES.

All his Nevada friends are as enthusiastic as he is and they keep evolving new features faster than Davis can put them down on paper. They have dug up the original cabins of "Johnny" Mackay, Alvinza Hayward, "Uncle Jimmy" Fair and Senator "Billy" Stewart and propose re-erecting them out at the Fair at once. It was first proposed to get out the original owners of these domiciles in red shirts and boots and set them to work ground sluicing and swinging a pick as in the days of old as part of the exhibit, but Mackay isn't over his recent wound yet. Fair says he is a little old and rheumatic to sleep on the ground out at the Park, and Stewart is pretty busy just now at Washington.

Another of the proposed features is the presence of "Lying Jim" Townsend, as Sam Davis calls him, of the Homer Index. Townsend is the man who disputes with Jim Gillis of Jackass Hill the claim of being the original "Truthful James of Fable Mountain," and also to be the claimant showing best proofs of having originally told the jumping frog story to Mark Twain. It is planned to have him recite "The Society upon the Stanislaus" daily, and tell the legend of the Calaveras Frog Sundays, if the Fair be open on that day.

A REGULAR MINING CAMP.

Davis also intends to erect miniature placers and sluice boxes, dig half a dozen prospect holes and put up a stamping mill and flume. Genuine old-time miners will work the placers, rob the sluice boxes, jump the prospect holes, and perhaps go up the flume, for the entertainment of visitors. They will sleep in the historical cabins and eat the typical beans and bacon off the top of flour barrels.

Davis himself will run the newspaper office and get out a live Nevada paper with the muckluge bottle in one hand and a cocked gun in the other.

There will also be an exhibit of old mining tools and relics of one sort or another. This is the extent of Sam Davis' idea at present. What it will be next week it is impossible to say.

Swept Away by a Snowslide.

At Monte Cristo, Wash., John Quinn, Phil Conley and Fred McHugh, working for the Wilms Mining Company, were yesterday carried about a mile in a snowslide. Phil Conley was injured internally. Harry Williams, employed by the same company, has mysteriously disappeared, and the supposition is he was carried off by a snowslide and covered. A furious snow storm was raging at the time.

SHIPE HUNTING.

A Young Tenderfoot the Victim.

Night before last a party took a young tenderfoot out snipe hunting northwest of the State University. The young man had a big tin can, a sack and a candle, and was placed in a lonely spot and told to beat the can as hard as he could and sing, which he proceeded to do. After he had pounded the can with a club for about an hour and his candle had burned out, he concluded it was a bad night for snipe hunting and he started for town. When he had nearly reached the city limits and was making his way along the side of a fence surrounding a big orchard, he was startled by a yell followed by five pistol shots fired in rapid succession. The young man supposed that some one took him for a thief in search of fruit and he immediately made for Commercial Row as hard as he could run. Two of the party composing the snipe hunting brigade had waited for him to come along on his trip towards Reno and thinking he was not making as good time as he should, the boys fired five shots over his head "just to see how fast he could travel." The young fellow says he will never hunt snipe again.

It Should be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 871 Clay street, Sharpshooter, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of la grippe, when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.

COCONA BALM

Jack Godfrey serves a first-class meal and fresh oysters in every style at the Palace Restaurant. Meals at all hours.

Joe Eekley, State Printer, writes from Carson to a friend in Reno that the copy of the Supreme Court Reports is not ready for the printers and that work on them is postponed. Six printers, all that is necessary, have been engaged for the work.

According to report, there is a gang of confidence men operating here on the lines of "Slim Jim" and Doc McClellan, of three-card monte notoriety. railroad passengers are said to be their victims. There should not be much sympathy for those truly good people who bet their money on what they believe to be a "sure thing" and whine when they find they are mistaken.

The October number of The Irrigation Market published at the head of Wall Street, New York, is full of good things. The articles: "Irrigation State Legislation," "A Continental Policy" and the original paper prepared for the Engineers' Year Book are noteworthy. The entire contents of this new propaganda of irrigation are bright and valuable.

The report of the condition of the First National Bank of Reno is printed in the JOURNAL. It shows that the institution is in a healthy condition, notwithstanding the financial depression, and while its deposits are large, its resources are ample to meet all liabilities. Nevada can boast of being one of the three States in which there were no bank suspensions or failures during the recent monetary crisis.

FALL OPENING

Novelty Dress Goods, Jackets, Capes, Etc.

Our respectability as fashion caterers, and the knowledge that we are looked to for all that's new, fashionable and correct by the ladies of this vicinity, at the beginning of each season, is one which we keenly appreciate. The honor of introducing to this territory the new thought of the civilized world, as the seasons roll around, impels us to greater, broader and more comprehensive ideas, and an excusable pride in excelling even ourselves. For weeks the fashion chrysalis has been steadily developing at THE PALACE, and

ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3d, it burst forth in a glorious constellation of bright and beautiful things, showering and deluging each department, filling shelves and counters with strings anxious for an introduction into America's good graces, and will continue through the season.
